NCSC Certified Training helps individuals and companies identify high quality cyber security training

Why was Certified Training Introduced?

The UK Government has identified a significant shortage of skilled cyber-security professionals and the National Cyber Security Centre, which is part of GCHQ, is working with other government departments to address this issue.

With the abundance of cyber security training courses on offer, it can be difficult for customers to identify highly competent trainers and good quality courses. NCSC Certified Training addresses this issue – providing customers with a choice of rigorously assessed courses. You can feel confident you will receive training that is consistent with industry best practice.

NCSC has appointed APMG as the independent Certification Body for NCSC-approved cyber security training courses, due to APMG's track record for accrediting quality training providers.

APMG certifies the trainers, the course material and administration processes surrounding the course – forming a truly comprehensive assessment process.

A selection of certified courses offer an APMG exam designed to test a candidate's knowledge on the content of the course.

Why choose a NCSC Certified Training Course?

- You can quickly identify high quality, relevant training
- The course materials have been rigorously assessed against NCSC's high standards
- The quality of the trainers' delivery and the course administration have been quality checked

To assure you are investing wisely look for the NCSC Certified Training logo when you book your next course.
